Inaugural Meeting to Mark Beginning of 2026-2030 Council Term

BROCKVILLE, ON – November 16, 2026 - The City of Brockville will hold its inaugural Council meeting on Tuesday, November 17, where Mayor-Elect Cameron Wales and members of the newly elected Council will make their Declarations of Office and formally begin the 2026-2030 Council term.

Mayor-Elect Wales will be joined by Councillors Louise Severson, Jane Fullarton, Philip Deery, Bruce Wylie, Jeremy Newman, Chris Culhane, Bianca Timmerman, and Ida Duc, who will collectively serve the community over the next four years.

"I am grateful for the confidence Brockville residents have placed in our new Council," said Mayor-Elect Wales. "Our community has elected a strong team, and I look forward to working with Council to advance the priorities of residents and continue building a strong future for Brockville."

The transition also marks the conclusion of service for several members of the 2022-2026 Council, including two long-standing members.

"I want to congratulate the newly elected Mayor and members of Council as they take office and begin to serve our community," said former Mayor Matt Wren. "Let us all join together in supporting them as they lead us forward and continue to build our great city."

The City extends its sincere appreciation to all outgoing members of Council for their dedication and service to the community. Special recognition is extended to former Councillor Jeff Earle for 35 years of service and former Councillor Mike Kalivas for 29 years of service. Through their decades of public service, both made significant and lasting contributions to the City of Brockville.
